

Title: Cape town electricity market

Generated on: 2026-05-11 10:10:48

Copyright (C) 2026 KENK EU. All rights reserved.

For the latest updates and more information, visit our website: <https://www.moritz-kenk.eu>

-----

The initiative supports Cape Town's goal to secure 350 MW from independent power producers, cutting reliance on Eskom and reducing load-shedding risks. Major companies like Shoprite are already ...

(Bloomberg) -- Cape Town will call for tenders to implement several major projects that aim at cutting electricity costs and bolstering water security in South Africa's second-biggest city and ...

Wheeling allows participants to buy electricity directly from Independent Power Producers (IPPs) or licensed energy traders using existing municipal grid infrastructure. "Today we officially ...

Data for the City to track: Cape Town's electricity demand profile - Annual and daily in summer and winter (per customer type and time of use) and electricity sales (per customer type).

Cape Town - After the conclusion of a successful year-long electricity "wheeling" pilot project, the City of Cape Town has opened its electricity grid to private electricity sales and trading.

City launches full-scale electricity wheeling after successful pilot, paving the way for diversified energy sources.

The launch of the South African Wholesale Electricity Market (SAWEM) marks a historic turning point in the country's energy sector, paving the way for competitive electricity trading, private sector ...

In recent years, the City of Cape Town has invested tens of millions of rand to expand formal electricity access in informal settlements such as Nomzamo. While these phased, multi-million-rand ...

Cape Town opened its electricity grid for private energy trading, making it the first municipality in South Africa to do so following the liberalisation of the electricity market.

Web: <https://www.moritz-kenk.eu>

